

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. I. PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1882. NO. 30.

The new histories are as pretty as brain contented dollars.

LEXINGTON is agonizing over four bright brain new cases of small-pox.

Several persons have taken Oscar Burbridge's picture for Cradock's.

The City School gave a public and enjoyable entertainment Wednesday.

"What shall the harvest be?" Army worn has, rust, straw and two dollars a day.

Attention at H. T. Paton's General store to-morrow, commencing at 10 and 2 o'clock.

Hoes are in big demand now to either borrow or rent, for the destruction of the army worms.

J. O. MILLER, republican, was elected by a majority, over Clay McKee, Police Judge of Mt. Sterling.

The Bourbon Female College entertainment at Odd Fellows' Hall, Wednesday night, was well attended.

ROGER O'CONNOR got bulldozed out of a pasture the other day, in double-quick time. The calf thought he was a book agent.

Two knife-polishing thieves are on the road. The Mt. Sterling Sentinel says that they stole a $25 set of pearl-handled knives from Mrs. Thos. Turner.

The room over J. L. Taylor & Co's recently occupied by Prof. W. H. Lockhart, as a school room, has been secured by the telephone company, for the exchange.

For SALE—A black American eagle, is kind and gentle, in perfect health, and sound as a dollar. Will take $5, or will exchange it for a Bourbon history. Apply at this office.

BANCROFT was forty-eight years in writing the history of the United States, yet he didn't make half such a book as our new history which was written and published in forty-eight days.

O. A. GILMAN started a brigade of eight blue-grass seed stripping machines into the pastures last Tuesday. The crop is good one, and the product is now being sold here at 40 cents per bushel.

SATIS KENNEY denies that three children were born unto him before his marriage, as alleged by the new history. He's not that kind of a rushing fellow. One copy of the valuable book is all he wants.

JULY 1st is nearly here, and the News needs money. Every subscriber who is not paid up in advance, will please settle up at once. This is not given as a history joke, or an army worm fact. It is simply business.

JIM HEPLIN, Deputy U. S. Marshal, passed down the road to Maysville Wednesday, returning to Eastern Kentucky with twenty-eight witnesses, with whom he has been prosecuting twelve moonshiners at Frankfort.

BILLY SHAW says it is a mistake about himself being loomed out of $100 on account of the history, and says the history didn't cost him a penny. If this be true, many sorrowing friends would like to know how he got that picture?

The inordinate pride and vanity of man should not permit him to be deemed. Here's a little pointer for several hundred proud and chivalrous Kentuckians whose names are recorded in the tally book of the News office.

To-morrow the old soldiers will have their annual meeting at the Bourbon House. Mrs. Turney is handsomely decorating the dining hall, and other extended preparations for the reception of the veteran guests are being made.

A bon-ton wedding took place here yesterday in colored society. The parties to the affair were Charles H. Smith, of Dayton, Ohio, and Miss Lillie T. Stewart, of this city. The Best of W. H. Hutton, of Lexington, was the officiating minister.

RICHARD EVANS, of Newtown, Scott county, died Wednesday evening of wounds received from Len Offutt last Feb. Evans afterwards partly recovered, and shot Offutt dead in his tracks on their first meeting. Evans' remains were buried here yesterday.

H. M. RUCKER has resigned the office of cashier of the Deposit Bank. It is rumored that John Northcott will be elected in his place.

MISS MAGGIE MURRAY was voted the gold watch at the picnic yesterday. The amount of money she raised was $725, and that of her opponent, $375.50. The young folks continued their dance last night at the Bourbon House.

It is only before he is twenty-five that a man likes to be told that he is growing old very fast. After that a polio line about his not having changed a bit in ten years works the same as it does to smooth a cat on the obviously natural way of the feline.

KIRBY SMITH, at Morning Glory, Nicholas county, killed a black snake eleven feet long, which had just swallowed three young squirrels and a toad. If this was a small man and in delicate health, we would have no hesitation in calling him a liar.

GREGG KELLER, of this city, has been another pass at, and obtained the Carlsberg Mercury, for the sum of $2,500 cash. The transfer will be made by the attorneys of both parties, and possession will be given on the 28th inst. L. S. Benjamin, of the Citizen office, has been engaged as foreman for Mr. Keller.

The largest and finest distillery of the State—that of E. H. Taylor, at Frankfort, burned down Wednesday night. The cause of the fire was lightning, which struck the whisky-room about eight o'clock. The cost of the building was $80,000. Two men were knocked senseless in the office, by the shock.

Among the number of bridal parties who have left our depot recent, an old family servant was present to bid her young "missus" good-bye. As she stooped grasped and held the hands of the newly wedded couple, she very earnestly remarked: "Good-bye, missus—good-bye boss. Bless, fetch her back in three weeks jess as you told her away."

During the heavy rain that prevailed Tuesday night, a cabin on the K. C. extension six miles beyond Winchester was washed away, and eleven inmates—ten men and a woman, were all drowned and buried under the wreckage of the cabin. The bodies of the drowned were found, and the coroner of the county has held an inquest on the bodies. The cabin was near the banks of a small creek that emptied into the Kentucky river. The fall of water measured six inches in a tub left out in the yard of a neighbor to the westward, and the rain was a general one for that section, and not a water-spout as was reported.

The "La-le-de-dah" walk has struck our town. The essentials to its agonizing languor, however, are a full skirt cut short behind, a pillow for a panier, the toes turned inward, the heels pointed outward, the back bowed like a wagon wheel, and ten cents worth of chewing gum in the mouth. If this doesn't cut one of those gaudeo-eclectic, shoe-headed, hob-nailed, low-legged, pigeon-toed, coconut-skulled individuals who look like picked ganders with their tails pulled out, then go home and dab on paint and powder until they tumble. Tumble? Well, I should make my mouth resemble a cupboard of treasure.

On Wednesday afternoon when the goddess of day commenced to retire into the shades of evening for a short season of peaceful slumber, she gracefully kissed her golden slippers, and hung them on the pinnacle of our court-house, doffed her soft and velvety mantle of the seven rainbow hues, and carelessly slung it upon the tardy clouds lingering hard-by to see her stir; then lit her calcium lights of gorgeous glow and soothing of fulgence that clothed all nature in a hallowed misty, fairy dream—revealed her naked, symmetrical form to the vulgar gaze of humanity, while editors, poets and artists looked on with rapturous gaze, gave their hearts of innocence to her, and thus to Nature's real, perfect artist.

T. W. MCCLINTOCK, a book-agent from Cincinnati, dropped into the News sanctum yesterday morning. He passed by the sentry at the door, under the guise of minister of the gospel having something good for our inside. After taking a seat near our desk and treating us to a clear Havana, he panned the way carefully by endorsing all our kicks against the new history, and finally it felt he knew that the news agent for valuable Brent's war-rooms. In consequence of the dire disappointment of the mob, we hereby offer ten new histories of Bourbon, for his body dead or alive, to be delivered at this office.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

THE WALLER-FERGUSON NUPTIALS.

The elite of the Bluegrass society was brought out last Tuesday, by the marriage of Thos. H. Waller, of Cincinnati, to Miss Maggie, daughter of James W. Ferguson, of this county. The marriage took place at the Christian Church, at 130, P. M. Fider J. S. Sweeney, officiating. The maids of honor were Misses Cora South and Mary Ireland, of this city. The attendants were J. H. Johnson, of Cincinnati, and Miss Laura Alexander, of Paris; Len Ferguson, and Miss Maggie Clark; John Sullivan, Covington, and Katie McClelland, Millersburg; J. H. McClelland and Miss Annie Fithian, Paris; Jas. O. Wiggins, Covington, and Miss Madge Whitney, Mt. Sterling. Ushers: T. C. Williams, John Davis, Albert Adair, and Frank Clay, Paris; Organist, Prof. A. M. Gutzeit.

The bride's dress, fashioned by that fastidious modiste, Madam Webb, at the head of the manum department of W. H. Ingels & Co., of this city, was a gorgeous cream satin and moire silk, elaborately trimmed with pearl passementerie, elegant pearl ornaments and duchess lace, skirt cut decollete train—laid 140 inches in length, (too long to switch)—and edged with French-ribbon of satin, unique and artistic in arrangement. The front was a non-solvable puzzle of puffed satin, lace and pearls. Sleeves pointed in front and back, and fringed with pearl ornaments. Neck cut heart-shaped with a profusion of duchess lace. Elbow sleeves with same trimming. The handsome bride whose dress worth would scrutinize with a jealous eye, was with the exception of her train, encased in a Fairy's dream, floating backward from an orange wreath. In lieu of the bouquet of the primeval days, the bride, the bride and maids carried elegant white satin hand-painted satchels to relieve the loneliness of their hands. The bride's diamond jewels were in strict keeping with the balance of her trousseau, in gorgeousness.

Miss South wore white mull and lace, with pearl ornaments; Miss Ireland, pink satin, and nun's veiling, with pearls; Miss Alexander, white mull and point lace, diamonds; Miss Clark, white mull and Valenciennes lace, diamonds; Miss McClelland, pink satin and lace, diamonds; Miss Whitney, pink satin and lace, diamonds; Miss Fithian, white mull and lace, diamonds.

The groom's girl was a svelte cat-drops; J. W. Ferguson, father of the bride, 400 acres of bluegrass land, and a check for $5,000—equivalent to $50,000; other gifts numbering forty pieces in way of bridal-gift heterogeneousness including a diamond pin, and several elegant pieces of silver, were presented by friends and relatives.

The church was exquisitely decorated by James Hinton, our local florist. Floral garlands spanned the aisle in front of an arch surmounted by two white natural doves, beneath whose beaks pendant the floral monogram of the bride and groom floated in mid air, while the marriage bell of roses of all the delicate hues, and clapper of mammoth lilies swung beneath the arch. On either side of the pulpit, in artistic horticultural array, were to be seen immense palms, cacti, floral species, fuschias, roses, geraniums by families, and tropical plants rich and rare, and in wholesale display.

A marquee of brown mantle warded off the laughing sunbeams that were wont to with the galaxy of splendor that radiated forth from the six elegant backs of the hymenal avalanche, and even a spread of the same protected the soft white kid footpads and flowing trains from terra firma's despoiling contact.

After the blessings of the minister were pronounced, and a beautiful bouquet presented, typical of the purity of his regards, the brigade of ducks hurried away to the 3 o'clock North-bound train, for Cincinnati, where, at 37 West 4th St., a most elegant suite of rooms await them at Mrs. "Puss" Kenney's recently established bon-ton boarding house.

The High Bridge Camp Meeting begins July 13th and continues until the 21st.

Rev. E. O. Guernant closed his meeting at Hazel Green with forty-eight addresses. John Bedford, Sr., near Millersburg, says the army worms won't eat hemp or potatoes.

John T. Prewitt and Miss Nona Wilson, of Montgomery county, were quietly married in New York Tuesday.

Miss A. H. Redmon got thrown from a horse and severely injured, the other evening while horse-back riding on our streets.

The stormy days have come—The cyclonic of the year; A little uncertain for the picnic band, And slightly dangerous to the dear young dear.

The annual opening ball at the Arlington House, Blue Licks, will be held on Tuesday night next. Preparations are being made for a large attendance.

A Brooklyn girl who contemplated suicide wrote a note to her parents, beginning, "I take pleasure in writing these few lines to you."

Miss Maggie Sept, daughter of Joe Scott, was presented with a gold dollar, for having the best report in the city school. She was 100 in most of her studies.

Billy Baras, formerly of Mt. Sterling, was out of St. Louis, won $5,000 on the races there one day last week. His friends were banqueted in royal style over the happy tip.

"How in the h—l can a man dance without whiskey," said a lunatic to a stranger, when asked why he did not take part in a dance down at the Anchorage Insane Asylum, the other day.

Back-hair bangs have made their disgusting advent into civilized Kentucky society. This indeed bangs the d—l, and it is about time for parents to revive that old style of banging with a board, and the subject hanging over the knees like a half-dressed jack-knife.

Strayed—A dark red-roan heifer weighing about 600 pounds. Any information as to her whereabouts, please send to the Editor of this paper, or to the owner, Mr. C. H. Dyer, near Carlisle, Boone county, Ky.

Will Taylor stopped cutting his barley on account of the army worms. He estimates that where he would have had 4,000 bushels, he won't save 500.

McInture & Swiney, of this city, have sold a yearling colt, a full brother to their celebrated Little St., to Louisville, of England, for $5,000, and have the money in the bank to his credit.

The army worm is sweeping things before it in Mason county, and the farmers are fighting it with sword, fire, water, clubs and profanity. A passenger train is said to have been stopped by them near Marshall's Station.

We heard a Lexington cattle trader say Wednesday that he shipped a load of heifers to Covington two weeks ago, and lost money. Last week he bought a car load in Covington and sold them at Lexington and made money. He will next ship to Mt. Sterling.

The 4th of July will be celebrated at Falmouth, by a series of trotting races. The first race, purse $100, $50 to first, $25 to second, and $25 to third, open to all horses owned or handled in Pendleton county on or before June 1st, '82. A man named C. C. Cram, is County Attorney of Grant county. He is also editor of the Williams-town Courier.

James Huff and Henry Kimbrough, have leased the well-known House, and will take possession on July 1st. Mr. Huff is not a stranger at the hotel business here having, successfully run the St. Cloud several years ago. "Kimmy" too, was raised right up at the business. We predict for them a popular run of trade.

A DEUEL was fought near New Orleans last Wednesday between Maj. A. Burke, of the Times-Democrat, and Mr. C. H. Parker, editor of the Picayune. At the fifth round Maj. Burke was shot in both legs, but not seriously wounded.

The Chicago Tribune says Kentucky is beginning to lament that to her boast of the fairest women, the fastest horses, and the finest whiskey she may add that she has more and longer school commencements and less education than any other state in the whole United States. This is of ficial.

Righteous men sometimes go in, white potatoes tarry.
 The Convention illustrated this, when Dick Reid beat "Old Harry."

We are happy to add the name of Judge Reid to the ticket.

In absence of the Legislature, Barnes has tackled the next worst thing—the penitentiary, down at Frankfort. Almost all of the convicts have been confessed their dear Savior, and are going to "serve Him as best they can"—under the circumstances.

The colored men of the State met in convention at Lexington Wednesday and Thursday, and recommended a State organization in behalf of the rights political, civil, judicial, and educational, of the colored race. They were opposed to the endorsement of Jacob, the sore-head Democrat, and repudiated his claims in the strongest terms.

While Bourbon county was called upon to vote a tax for the Frankfort, Georgetown, Paris, and Atlantic Coast Railroad, we set it down as a black-mailing swindle, to sell out the charter of the Kentucky Central. As the road was to have been completed within one year to Paris, and as no steps have been taken to stick in a pick, our predictions will probably be verified.

Jesus is recorded as having wept when Lazarus died—the only instance on record of his weeping. Were He upon earth to-day, He would have an opportunity to shed millions of tears per day. A poor, unfortunate woman and two children got off the train here the other day, because they had no money, and were on their way to their home and friends in Indiana. Tom Backford, a saloon keeper, who has a heart in sympathy with suffering humanity, tackled several of our worthiest christian patriarchs for the contribution of a mite, who turned a deaf ear, but the "gamblers and black legs" were not appealed to in vain, and a handsome little purse was garnered for the poor unfortunate.

Superior Court Convention.
 The convention at Lexington Wednesday, for the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Judge of the Superior Court of this district, was called to order by the Hon. W. J. Hendricks, of Fleming county. The Hon. Quincy Ward, of Harrison county, was chosen temporary chairman, over O. B. Hallam, of Owen county, after a stormy little call of the votes of the various counties, whereas there were frequent interruptions by Mr. Derickson, from Powell county, and others over credentials and of proxies of counties not represented. After the organization, the fact being developed that Richard Reid would be overwhelming nominated on the first ballot, ex-Governor Stevenson withdrew the name of Judge O'Hara, and moved the nomination of Judge Reid be made unanimous, which motion prevailed amid a thunder of applause.

The chair appointed Messrs W. C. P. Breckinridge, Jerry Lillard, Keene Pritchard a committee to notify Mr. Reid of his nomination, but the convention adjourned before the Judge appeared.

Geo. Sibert, of Oakland Mills, has opened a manufactory for grain crickets at that place, and is filling lots of orders for the best crickets manufactured.

W. A. Morris measured and located the route from here to the Blue Licks for the telephone line. The distance over the dirt road over which the line runs, is just 24 miles. The poles are all set in the ground, and the wire will be put up immediately.

Joe Batson offers 500 acres of aboiled army worms, for a new history of Bourbon.

The handsome little Miss Nanette Furnish, of Scott county, is graduating her many old schoolmates.

Hanson Kennedy and John I. Fisher were delegates in attendance of the Superior Court convention yesterday.

The exhibition of the Catechetics class of the Female College Wednesday night at the hall, was a very entertaining.

Tom Wade had history weighed, and found it wanting, and holds on to his twelve dollars like grim death to your uncle ex-slave.

The ebullient contest of the female College takes place this morning, and the commencement exercises this evening, at Bryan's Hall.

North Underland, the finest bull in Lewis county, died the other day. He was bred and reared by Thomas McClintock, and sold to James Tomcary.

Ed. Hull, son of B. G. Hull, formerly of this place, killed Sid Baxter in Nicholasville, last Sunday in self-defense. Baxter killed Lee Schray, of Winchester, last November, and was acquitted.

The Purdy House made a spread fit for the Kings, on the night of the hop, and 125 persons partook of the thirty-six spring chickens and other good things slaughtered for that special occasion.

Derbin Murphy, of Shelbyville, Mrs. Kelly and her daughter Virgie from Newcastle, Mrs. Bader and her sister, Mrs. Taylor, arrived here Tuesday evening among near fifty others, to attend the commencement exercises of the week.

The exhibitions of the Literary societies of the two colleges, as usual, drew large crowds. The arrangements were highly spoken of by those who attended. The Philomatheas brought their annual rain and thunder storm Tuesday night which had the usual effect of wayward-staring the people nearly to death.

A postal from Elder T. M. Myers, dated Tollsboro, June 12th says: "There have been no accessions to the church at my meeting here. The interest and attendance have grown into unexpected proportions. The audience was estimated at nine hundred. If you have no objections, I will say 'Praise the Lord!'"

Ed. McArdle, the handsome young modiste from the merchant tailoring parlors of James McArdle, Grand Opera building, Cincinnati, arrived here last evening to spend several days. He missed the train about 1 1/2 minutes Tuesday evening, but tried to hire a special train but all the engines were out on the road. Consequently he did not attend the hop.

At the Hooktown school-house one day last week, some boys had been reading the life of Jesse James, and concluded to play the role of the James boys, by hanging Billy Payne's boy. When the lad's tongue came out, they became alarmed and ran, but one thoughtful one ran back and cut him down. The lad came near dying from strangulation.

About noon one of those sultry days before the commencement, a cow walked into Hughes & Smedley's store, and when about half way through the room, Smedley raised up from his back on the counter to wait on the lady, and exclaimed in amazement, "did you hear?" Just a day after, a calf walked into D. Hurst's hall and made things interesting to the chamber maid for a few minutes.

Jos. H. Black, one of the most experienced tobacco men in the State, prophesies a fine season for the coming year. He predicts that the fly freeze killed most of the fly while they were coming through the ground, and as a consequence, producers will be but little annoyed with tobacco worms. Mr. Black says that the market on low grades of Kentucky tobacco is down badly, and little or no extra leaves can be selected from the crops around Millersburg, in consequence of the drouth, worms, etc. He says he would rather prize and consign crops than to pay the figures asked.

The Ninth Annual Commencement Hop, which came off Tuesday night, was by far the toniest of all the hops given by the young gentlemen of this place. Each succeeding year excels the former, in dress, management and attendance. On this last occasion, the hall was crowded to overflowing, with guests from all parts of the bluegrass. As many as sixty couples occupied the floor during the evening, and in dresses, management and attendance, couples held positions in the chairs, windows, dressing rooms, and adjacent parlors. To attempt a description of the many handsome gossamers, or even name the many strangers from a distance, would be an insurmountable task, hence we desist. Suffice to say, however, that twenty young ladies and fifty drosses, jewels, beauty, could have been picked here that would have been fair competitors for queenly honours, with perhaps any twenty in the Union—while forty couples followed close in gaily array, offering strong competition in grace, beauty and style. Satins and Nuns' veils of the daintiest hues, and laces were the leading features in dress, but occasioned the gorgeous monotony was broken by the appearance of a rich wine colored or cardinal silk, or the modest black water or broadcrests that offered a pleasant relief for the eyes which had become dazzled with constantly watching the silvery sparklings of the pearly white, cream-tinted and royal purple shades.

COL. L. T. FOSTER.

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, May 10th, 1880.
 BROTHERS KENDALL & CO., GENTS—I had a very severe case of Rheumatism which was very high; he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other, which made him very lame, and had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons who failed to cure him. I saw one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it, and for my doubts here to send for they ordered three bottles. I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, and used according to directions and the fourth day the colic ceased to be lame and the lumps had disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colic limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the stable. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it.

I, L. T. FOSTER, Send for Illustrated Circular which gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy ever met with such success on my knowledge, for best as well as man. Price $1 per bottle or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it for sale or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietor, B. J. Kendall & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillicia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the subtle of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the most effective alterative medicine now available to the human race. The science of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, eczema, blotches, spots, eruptions, Pimples, Itch, Pruritus, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Itch, Sore-throat, Mercurial Discharge, Frigidity, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruption which accumulates in the blood, and causes dangerous and deadly diseases. It stimulates and enlivens the functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and induces new life, and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood can remain who does not give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is fully to experiment with the numerous well-known medicines, cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while this medicine is a carefully selected. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is the best and most reliable blood-purifier known. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the commendation of millions who have been benefited.
